

From the Greenville News, October 25, 2007:

Thomas Moore Patrick, Jr., attorney, age 67, of 14 Woodvale Avenue, died suddenly at his home Oct. 23, 2007. A native of Greenville County, Mr. Patrick was the son of the late Thomas Moore Patrick, Sr., and Margaret McLeod Patrick.

He was the 1958 student body president of Taylors High School and class valedictorian. He was an Eagle Scout.

He graduated from Davidson College (1962), where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa, and from the University of Virginia JD class of 1965, where he was a member of the Coif and the Raven Society.

He served 13 months in Vietnam as a military Intelligence Army officer. He was a Lt. Col. in the Reserves. From 1971 to 1998 he was a Lecturer of Law at Clemson University.

He served on numerous boards, including the Greenville Housing Authority Board, Habitat for Humanity and Western Carolina Legal Services Board. He was a member of the Downtown Greenville Rotary Club, Torch Club, the St. Andrew Society of the Upstate and the Poinsett Club. He was a former member of First Presbyterian Church of Greer, serving as Secretary of the Board of Deacons. He was a communicant of Christ Church, Greenville, and summer member of the Church of the Transfiguration in Saluda, N.C. He was a past chairman of the Greenville Historic Preservation Commission and coordinator of historic highway markers for Greenville County. He was an active member of the American Boxwood Society and patented a boxwood variety named for Thomas Jefferson.

He is survived by his wife, Frances Hearon Patrick (Hedi); a daughter, Hedrick Patrick Lewis and son-in-law, Derek Lewis of Fountain Inn; a sister, Jane Patrick of Columbia; and a brother, Dr. Alexander Patrick of Greenville along with nieces and nephews.

In lieu of flowers, please send donations to the YMCA of Greenville's Cleveland Street YMCA Building Campaign to 601 E. McBee Suite 212, Greenville SC 29601.

A memorial service will be held at Christ Church, Greenville, SC, at 11 a.m. Friday, October 26, 2007. Family will receive friends at the church in the McCall Parlor at 10 a.m.

Cremation Society of South Carolina is serving the Patrick family.