

Wireless Security

The US Bankruptcy Court for the District of South Carolina is not a secured wireless network. The user will be responsible for taking the appropriate precautions for securing any such mobile device when using the courts wireless network. The court highly recommends the use of anti-virus and firewall software while using the courts wireless network.